

A Learning Community for Early Childhood Education

The Coach and Educator Community Interface (CECI) previously Coaching Companion, is an online platform that powers professional development for early childhood educators. Coaches and educators use CECI to connect to a community of professionals, access evidence-based learning resources, and plan pathways for professional growth.

Professional Learning and Virtual Coaching Tools in One Place

CECI provides on-demand professional development and virtual coaching tools for early childhood educators so they can provide quality instruction that meets the needs of children and families they serve. With CECI, educators take charge of their learning and gain access to a community of colleagues united in guiding young children to reach their full potential. Developed by researchers at the University of Washington, CECI can be customized to state and local early learning improvement frameworks.

Designed for Busy Educators

- Secure online platform accompanied by a mobile app
- Connections to educators through built-in videoconferencing and discussion groups
- Access to a high-quality media library with evidence-based learning materials, including videos of effective teaching practices in action
- Built so coaches and educators can focus on quality practices and meaningful interactions
- Professional development resources in multiple languages

To learn more about CECI, contact: coachcc@uw.edu

